LCSSM only logconcave observations would suffice, then EF is just an instance of this